BIG FOUR OFFICIALS TO CONFER WITH THE RAILWAY EXECUTIVES

While President Harding's Message is Before Congress—Situation Expected to Have a Sobering Effect on Both "Die Hards" and "Hard Boiled."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 16.—Hopes for a settlement of the railroad strike by mutual agreement between the railroad executives and the strikers themselves, were running high in Washington today as President Harding began the preparation of a message to congress dealing with the grave situation.
Officials of the four powerful brotherhoods will meet the railway executives in New York tomorrow about the same time the president goes to the capitol to tell congress how serious the situation is, and there is good reason to believe that something will come of the joint conference.
President Harding's message to congress, it was understood today, will embrace virtually the following:
1.—The president will tell congress "the whole story"—Beginning with the Heroin massacres, and winding up with the Arizona deserts where train crews abandoned trains at desert terminal points.
2.—He will recount every step taken by the government to try to end the strike by peaceful means and the reasons for their failure.
3.—He will then figuratively "wash his hands of the whole situation" and inform congress that the government has reached the end of its rope in trying to establish peace.
4.—He will affirm the government's intention of affording protection to those railroads able to maintain service, by troops if necessary, and for those roads unable to fulfill their public obligations, he will suggest other means—probably federal re-employment.
Looming in the background of the president's message, is a final alternative should these steps fail to maintain transportation—government seizure—but it was undecided today whether this threat should be given a place in tomorrow's communication. Whether it is there or not, administration officials asserted today it is ever present and the government's final alternative.
The weight of a presidential message, coming on top of a presidential order that the safety rules affecting locomotives must be enforced, is expected to have a sobering effect upon both the "die hard" executives and the "hard boiled" leaders among the striking railroad workers. And, finally or wrongly, administration officials were confident today that something will come out of tomorrow's joint conference between the executives and the union leaders.
Despite the denials and statements put forward by railway executives, the fact stood forth with unmistakable prominence today that the rolling stock of railroads is in a deplorable condition and is steadily becoming worse as a result of six weeks' suspension of repairs.
"We are taking steps and will be compelled to continue to proceed in a haphazard manner which must bring about serious withdrawals of motive power from service," said C. C. McChord, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission.
A marked acceleration in retirement of defective locomotives is expected within the next few days as a result of the interchange of letters between McChord and the president.
The nature of the proposals which the brotherhood leaders will make to the executives at tomorrow's New York conference, was not in a letter to the president.
The president's reply was a direct order to the Interstate Commerce Commission to "diminish service rather than attempt to move trains on which safety is not assured."
Commissioner McChord did not go to details as to the condition of

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Aug. 16.—Railway executives refused to comment today on the possible results of their meeting here tomorrow with the officials of the Big Four railroad brotherhoods. From the few guarded statements they made, the impression was gained that while they are keenly desirous of reaching a settlement, they are not hopeful of favorable results from tomorrow's conference.
"Irrespective of whether the strike is settled or not, the railroads will all have full complements of shop workers soon," Robert S. Binkerd, assistant to T. Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, said. "The roads are putting more men back to work every day."
Tomorrow's conference will open at 2 o'clock.

RACING AUTOMOBILES KILL TWO PASSENGERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Reading, Mass., Aug. 16.—Police of neighboring towns and cities co-operated with local officials today in a search for the high powered automobile with which William M. Wood Jr., son of the president of the American Woolen Company, was racing when he and a companion were killed instantly. Major Alexander Gardner, war veteran, of North Andover was the other victim who lost his life. Paul Rice, a third occupant of Wood's machine, suffered a broken rib. Four others were injured. Two seriously, when Wood's speeding car wrecked two machines on Dead Man's Corner, on the road to North Andover. The machine, with which Wood was racing, failed to stop following the crash.

Would Sell Parents' Tomb.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Aug. 16.—Morton Sultzer, under indictment on the charge of grand larceny, is so hard up that he would sell his parents' tomb to defray legal expenses—if the court would allow it. But Supreme Court Justice Guy is on record today as saying that the court most emphatically will not. The judge branded Sultzer's request as "outrageous." The tomb is in Woodlawn Cemetery and cost $8,000. Sultzer said that he had been brought up with the understanding that he would have a big income and never took the trouble to learn a profession or trade.

PESSENAR'S OFFER OF A BUS TERMINAL ACCEPTED

Common Council Tuesday Evening Voted to Accept Offer of Railroad Avenue Hotel Man—New Terminal in Use on and After September 15—Located on Thomas Street.

On and after September 15, the central bus terminal will be located on Thomas street in the rear of Pessenar's Hotel on Railroad Avenue.
At a meeting of the common council Tuesday evening the aldermen after some discussion voted to accept the offer of Mr. Pessenar.
Since the bus terminal was located in the Winter building on central roadway, near the West Shore railroad crossing, there has been considerable objection on the part of the business men in that vicinity who claimed that the buses parked in front of the terminal congested traffic. The business men filed petition with the council asking that parking be prohibited at that point.
Shortly afterward Mr. Pessenar made the offer of a new bus terminal on his property on Thomas street. The offer was considered favorably by the board of public works and referred to the common council.

The matter was thoroughly discussed by the aldermen before final action was taken. Alderman Martin's amendment to the resolution offered by Alderman Belchert was defeated. Alderman Martin wanted the bus lines to be given the privilege of using both terminals until October 1.
Aldermen Belchert, Cashman and Van Wageningen opposed the amendment on the ground that it would further congest traffic if the buses were allowed to run to the two terminals.
The Belchert resolution, that the Pessenar terminal be the one used after September 15, was then adopted.
President Dittus appointed the finance committee and Aldermen Belchert, Cashman, Buchholz and himself to wait on Mr. Pessenar and make the necessary arrangements.
Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

Rail Unions Agree On Plan To End The Strike

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 15.—A plan for adjustment of the railroad strike is understood to have been worked out here at a lengthy conference today between the heads of the sixteen standard railroad unions.
It will be taken to New York this afternoon by chiefs of the four brotherhoods, and presented to the railway executives in tomorrow's joint conference at 61 Broadway.
The brotherhood chiefs planned to leave Washington at 3 o'clock this afternoon for New York. Leaders of the six striking shopcraft unions will follow on a night train so as to be in the vicinity of tomorrow's joint conference.
Whatever the plan agreed upon, it was a closely guarded secret. Union leaders declined to discuss it, some asserting they were taking no proposals to New York. When it was pointed out that one of the condi-

SHOE INDUSTRY TIE-UP THREATENS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Lynn, Mass., Aug. 16.—A complete tie-up faces the shoe industry here as the result of the strike today of 4,000 women workers, members of the Stitches' Local Number 57, United Shoe Workers of America. The women walked out today because of the alleged failure on the part of the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' Association to pay them back pay for work on new styles during the past seven weeks. Unless the women return the factories will be forced to suspend by the end of the week and between 12,000 and 14,000 shoe workers will be without employment.

Candler Sued In Turn.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 16.—The troubles of Walter C. Candler, the millionaire son of Asa Candler, the coca-cola king, were added to today when a suit asking $100,000 for an alleged criminal assault was filed by attorneys for Mrs. Clyde Byfield, wife of the man who was sued by Candler on Monday for annulment of a note for $25,000, said by Candler to have been given Byfield after he had been found in Mrs. Byfield's bedroom on board a steamship.

Ten Dead In Orphanage Fire.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

CHARLES PETRIE CARVED WITH AXE

East Kingston Austrian in Benedictine Hospital in Serious Condition as Result of Being Assaulted as He Lay in His Bed During Night.

Mystery surrounds the brutal assault committed on Charles Petrie, a respected Austrian resident of East Kingston, who is now in the Benedictine Hospital with a fractured skull, fractured leg and many severe wounds inflicted with either an axe or a meat cleaver. Dr. John F. Larkin is caring for the wounded man and the sheriff's office is making an investigation.
Petrie was asleep in bed on the first floor of his home Tuesday night. In the room with him were some of his children. He was awakened when struck over the head with a sharp instrument. As he yelled frantically for help the blows were repeated and as a result his leg was fractured and his hands badly cut as he had attempted to ward off the blows.
Dr. Larkin when seen today said that a piece of the skull had been cut cleanly out by the force of the blows and that Petrie's condition was critical.
Who committed the assault is not known. Petrie when questioned was unable to give any information.

Strike in Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Troops are being sent into the Nova Scotia coal fields to preserve order in the miners' strike, it was learned today.

MAYOR LUNN AND STRAWBERRIES

Were the Enjoyable Features at the Rotary Club Luncheon at Noon—Speaker Set Forth Seriousness of the Crisis Brought About by Strikes.

A bountiful supply of luscious strawberries grown by Rotarian Frank Messenger and contributed by him to "the good of the cause," divided the honors with the speaker and guest of the day, the Rev. Dr. George W. Lunn, mayor of Schenectady, at the Rotary luncheon today, at which there was a 95 per cent attendance and no end of a good time, even though the Rotary Barnyard Golf team had been eliminated early in the contest.
Mayor Lunn called attention to the fact that New York state will be lucky this coming winter if it received at least 50 per cent of the usual amount of anthracite coal due to the coal strike and the railroad situation.
He called attention to a meeting of the mayors' conference held recently in which the coal question was thoroughly discussed with Mayor Church of Governor Miller's staff. Mayor Church had gathered data, and presented his figures so convincing that the mayors at the session realized the situation that would have to be met this winter.
Under normal conditions anthracite coal is mined at the rate of 7,500,000 tons a month. The strike went into effect in April, and as a result at the present time there is an actual shortage of 33,000,000 tons of hard coal. Ninety per cent of hard coal is used for heating purposes, and the demand is seasonal, a surplus being gathered in summer to meet the winter demand, which is in excess of possible production.
Earlier in the year coal dealers in some of the cities advised their customers not to lay in their winter supply in April as the coal prices were sure to be lower later on. Mayor Lunn said that he believed that the prices would be considerably higher during the coal burning period.
What the situation would develop into was the appointment of a fuel administrator at Washington and that each zone would receive a certain quota of the available supply.
At the present time the northwest was crying for coal, and New York state would be fortunate if it secured its quota of coal this winter. Even if the state did receive its quota it would mean but half of the usual amount burned each winter.
The mayors' conference had realized the seriousness of the situation and was asking the legislature when it convened in extraordinary session to grant the cities the power to purchase coal without advertising for bids. At the present time there was not a coal dealer in the state, he said, who would be foolish enough to sign a contract to supply coal at a specified price.
If the cities were not given the power to purchase coal where it could be obtained it would mean that the cities would be unable to get coal enough to heat the public buildings. As the situation stood today, it was likely that a number of schools in the various cities would have to be closed during part of the winter at least.
In Schenectady the schools had enough coal to last them until the first of January. What the situation was in Kingston he did not know. The shortage of hard coal would cause greater suffering in the great cities like New York, where the tenement house dwellers bought their fuel by the hodful.
There was also a shortage in the soft coal. During normal times there was mined 8,000,000 tons of soft coal a week, and at the present time about 5,000,000 tons were being mined, but owing to the railroad strike but 3,000,000 tons were being shipped. Unless the railroad strike was shortly settled and coal could flow freely it would mean that many large industries would be forced to close down for lack of coal to keep the machinery turning.
Mayor Lunn said that Major Church had informed the conference that he believed that owing to the shortage of hard coal for heating purposes this coming winter that the death rate would be greatly increased. It had even been suggested, he said, that the electric light signs be discontinued until conditions are back to normal.
Even if the strike was settled today, said Mayor Lunn, the country would still be confronted by the problem of getting coal, for it would be impossible to make up for the tonnage that would have been mined, if there had been no coal strike.
Mayor Lunn in closing said that he did not want to be considered pessimistic, but he believed that he had stated conditions without distorting the facts.
The questions of how to meet the situation was also up to the coal dealers in the cities and he believed that they should get together and form an organization to prevent a person from going to one coal yard and getting half a ton of coal and then visiting the other yards and repeating the order.
Mayor Lunn enlightened his address with a number of unusually witty stories.
Both Mayor Lunn and the strawberries were greeted with loud applause and prolonged cheers.

Japan Begins To Disarm.

Huge Crowd Attends Farm Bureau Picnic

Many Attractive Exhibits—"Barnyard Golf" the Thing Everybody Came to See—Ideal Weather Taken Advantage of by Throng From All Over the County.

There was no uncertainty as to the weather, it was ideal picnic weather, and consequently there was a big turnout at the Farm and Home Bureau picnic this morning. The crowds began to arrive early and by noon time, which was only 11 o'clock by the time of most of the farmers, the parking space for cars was rapidly filling up and the grounds at Forsyth Park were dotted with picnic parties. The hot dog booth, the ice cream booth, the sandwich booth and the various drink booths were doing a rushing business.
The one question which was asked as soon as the picnicers arrived at the park was "Where is the barnyard golf contest taking place?" The crowd was directed to the flats near the entrance where a space had been roped off and where there were several teams warming up at a early hour this morning. Here the contests were run off with Manager Chase of the Farm Bureau acting as referee. Mr. Chase settled all disputes to the satisfaction of all.
The exhibits this year were very conveniently placed for view and there were several new comers among the exhibitors.
James Millard & Son Company of course had their usual exhibit of the well known Ford product consisting of a Ford automobile, Fordson tractor, and farm machinery.
Peter Black showed a number of Hudson and Essex cars while the Ulster Garage had several models of Nash cars, both fours and sixes. The Van Motor Company had a space where Studebaker cars were shown. Later in the day other exhibitors arrived and placed their exhibits.
Gregory & Company showed in their space a modern washing machine which dries clothes without ringing, and they also showed two models of kitchen ranges.
L. Barth & Son had an exhibit of kitchen ware which they manufactured. In their exhibit was a big hotel kitchen range and a large ice box or refrigerator.
The Universal Road Machinery Company showed one of their Raymond gravel truck bodies for Ford trucks, a body which is being used in a number of the local towns on Ford trucks.
Other exhibitors who were unable to get their booths erected until later in the day displayed their wares during the afternoon to a large and interested crowd.
By noon time the crowd was arriving in machines from every direction in the county and the state troopers and local police were kept busy regulating traffic and assisting in parking the cars on the parking space above the tennis courts in the park. In spite of the large number of cars the crowd was well regulated and due to the excellent manner in which the crowds were handled there were no accidents in entering or leaving the grounds.
By early afternoon when the speaking took place there were several thousand people spread about over the spacious grounds enjoying the music of the band and meeting neighbors and friends or keeping the ladies who took care of the various booths busy dispensing the cool drinks and good things to eat. The ideal weather which prevailed during the early morning throughout the day brought out a record breaking crowd and everyone was pleased with the weather even though it was a trifle hot, especially to the contenders for the silver cup in the barnyard golf contest.

Contest Rages For Barnyard Golf Championship Cup

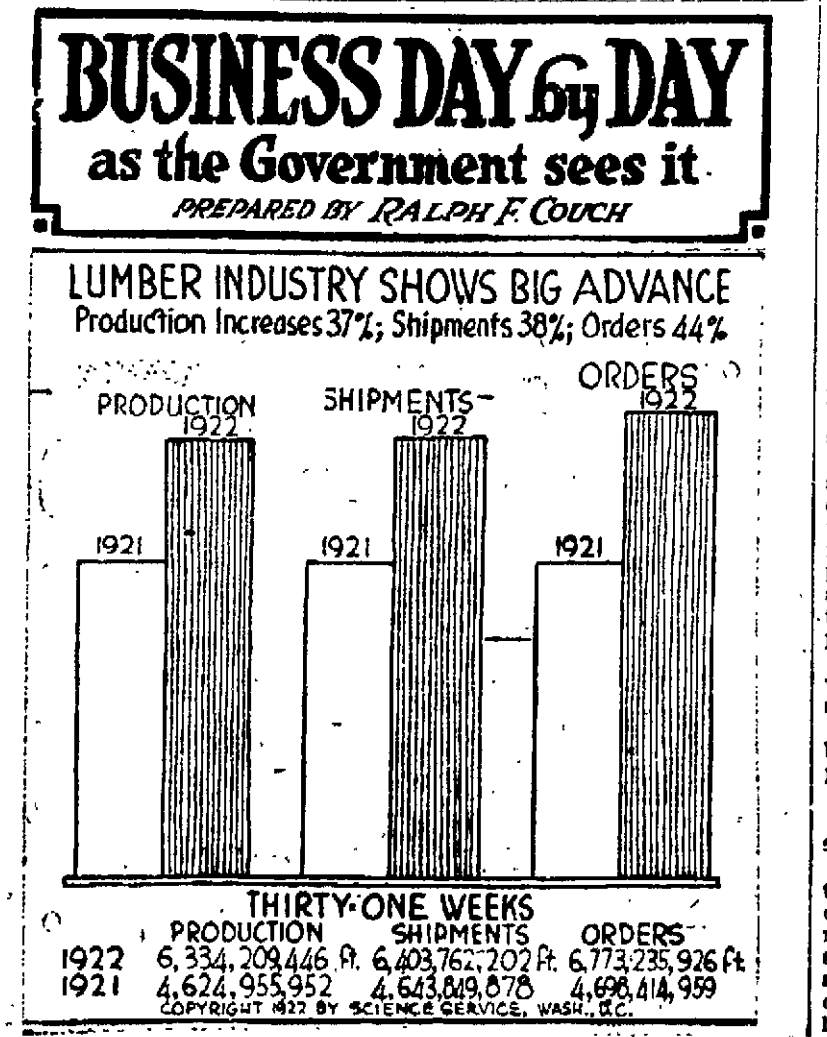

The much talked about Farm Bureau Horseshoe Pitching contest, has started and is well under way at this writing. What weeks and weeks of practise have done for the various contestants was being shown at Forsyth Park this morning and afternoon and so far it has developed some stars who would do well to enter the American Horseshoe Championship contest. Early this morning the men upon whom the reputation and honor of the various communities was to rest began to gather from the four corners of the county of Ulster and practice pitching the horseshoes which had been provided for the occasion, the required distance of forty feet. Among these early comers was the team representing the Kiwanis Club which put in an hour of diligent practice before the contest began. Another team which improved the early morning hours was the energetic Mt. Pleasant team with "Pop" Short at the helm.
Everything being ready, including the gallery, Referee Chase decided to start things going by drawing up the Kiwanis and Rotary teams and letting them settle their dispute at once. The Kiwanis Club was represented by Dominie Nelson and Clyde Wondery while the Rotary team was composed of Harder and Hicks. All the necessary instructions having been given and all preliminary disputes having been settled Referee Chase yelled "Pitch Horseshoes" and the contest began with the Kiwanis club taking the lead at once and maintaining it to the end of the contest.
In determining the score a "ringer" counted three and the nearest horseshoe to the stake counted one provided it was within eight inches of the stake. If both teams obtained a ringer they were both null and void. After the smoke of battle had been cleared it was found that the Kiwanis had scored fifty points, which was the number needed to win the game, to the Rotary's twenty-seven.
Another contest which attracted a good deal of attention from the gallery was that between "Pop" Short's team representing Mt. Pleasant and the team representing New Paltz. "Pop" had as the second member of his team his son, L. Short, who has been training from his youth up for this championship match. New Paltz had as their representatives Shackrow and Adams. The first contest between these two teams ended in a dispute as to the correct score and as a result it was played over with "Pop's" team coming out on the long end, his team having scored 52 to his opponents' 45.
Houghtaling and McKenzie representing Port Ewen then lined up against Davis and Churchman representing Kerhonkson. Port Ewen got off to a bad start and although they picked up as the contest went on they were not able to overcome the lead of which their opponents gained on them in the early hours.

JOHN KOLANO FOUND GUILTY OF TAXI VIOLATION TODAY

John Kolano, a local taxi driver, was found guilty of violating the taxi ordinance in soliciting fares while standing more than five feet from his car at the Rhinebeck ferry shed. He was arrested on August 3 by Officer Reardon, who also arrested William Baglivi, another taxi man, at the same time. Both had pleaded not guilty and the hearing had been adjourned until today in police court before Judge Schirick.
Corporation Counsel Walter N. Gill appeared for the police department, while Chris J. Flanagan appeared for Kolano. After a lengthy trial Judge Schirick found Kolano guilty and imposed a fine of $5 which was paid under protest. Attorney Flanagan announced that he would appeal the case.
The trial of Baglivi was adjourned to August 25. He is also represented by Attorney Flanagan.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so it cannot gripe. When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating fluid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it. Try it today.

Not Original With Hayes. The aphorism, "He serves his party best who serves his country best" is from the inaugural address of Rutherford B. Hayes (1822-1893), as President of the United States, delivered March 5, 1877. In the famous translation of Homer's Iliad, made by Alexander Pope (1688-1744), the English poet, there is this line: "He serves me most who serves his country best."

His Lucid Moment. "This lets me out," said the discharged prof. as he opened the door—Syracuse Orange Peel.

DEMOCRATS ARE HAVING TROUBLE

Met at City Hall Tuesday Evening and Named Part of Ticket, Referring Matter of Selecting Balance of Candidates to a Committee—A Dozen Present.

Member of assembly—William G. Merritt.
District attorney—Robert J. Howard.

Coroner—James V. Halloran. That is the Democratic ticket as so far made up by the loyal dozen of the Democratic party who met at the city hall Tuesday evening to consider the prospects of the fall election. The matter of selecting candidates for state senator, member of congress and county treasurer was left to a committee on vacancies. Judge James Jenkins presided at the session and in addition to himself there were eleven other members of the party at the meeting. The Democrats have been having considerable trouble in getting candidates. Among the men they have tried to induce to run for state senator were ex-Mayor Morris Block and John T. Loughran, both of whom thankfully declined. The committee on vacancies expect to have their hands full and will welcome any suggestions as to candidates. Those who desire to submit their names to the committee can get in touch with either Judge Jenkins or Isidor Sampson. No communication will be considered unless it is signed.

WINNIE'S RETURN HORSE AND ARE DISCHARGED.

Mr. Gerlack withdrawing the complaint. When the two were caught last week at Shandaken they promised to return the horse and later Deputy Sheriff Ellsworth and Mr. Gerlack went to Shandaken where they recovered the horse. At the hearing last week the two Winnies were paroled in the custody of Justice Kennedy until the adjourned date, which was set down for today at 1 o'clock.

YE POSTMASTER NEAR THE HEART

Of the Adirondacks, Where He Finds Warm Welcome and a Village That is the Center of All Points of the Compass.

Elizabethtown, Aug. 12, 1922. Editor Freeman:

This is great! Nearer the heart of the Adirondacks, we found warm and hospitable welcome at Ben Stetson's Deer Head Inn. The accommodations and surroundings are so fine we decide to remain over Sunday.

Elizabethtown seems to be the centre of all points of the compass and a stop-over place for all tourists. It is only 35 miles beyond Schroon Lake but has a very fine golf course of 1886 yards much better than Schroon's, which the P. M. thought had too many gulleys and ponds, called "bunkers." The Elizabethtown course looked so lovely, smooth and green but the P. M. was to learn something about golf. The card shows:

Cobble Hill Golf Course.
P. M. 9 holes.....101
Opponent.....62

This beat the previous record-breaking achievement and goes down in the history of the ancient sport. A beautiful ride is over to Westport, on Lake Champlain, only 3 miles distant. The view of the lake and mountains filling up the horizon is superb from Westport Inn especially. The golf links are right nearby. The card shows:

Westport Inn Links.
Course 2451 yards.
P. M. 9 holes.....88
Opponent.....58

There are some awful ravines on this course which got the P. M.'s "goat."

The drive through Keene Valley should not be overlooked. Though not the state road it is good gravel, narrow in places, so care must be observed. The cliffs tower 3,000 feet above one while one is at an altitude of 2,000 feet. So the peaks exceed "Slide Mountain" to quite an extent. There is a lake at the foot of a rocky precipice in which the mountain throws its own great figure. Nothing so impressive or so awe-inspiring exists in our Catskills.

The Kaaterskill Clove, Plattekill, Hunter Grand Gorge or West Kill Notch cannot compare with Keene Valley. Although loyal to the Catskills, I have to "throw up the sponge" before this great convulsion of the earth's crust in the past ages. One leaves this chasm or canyon with mingled feelings of awe and a sense of man's littleness and of his works. You draw a breath of thankfulness as you emerge and think how near you were to eternity.

YE POSTMASTER.

FANCY DRESS BALL AT CROSSPATCH WEDNESDAY

Fancy dress and masquerade of every sort should make Crosspatch Annex a very gay and festive place next Wednesday evening, August 23. It will be a sort of Greenwich Village fete, where ingenuity and original idea will count for more than a great expenditure for hired costumes. Everyone who has a costume, which has been worn elsewhere, should bring it to Crosspatch Annex next Wednesday.

Those who have not a costume on hand are invited to consider the possibilities of a few yards of crepe paper, combined with good taste and a desire to have a jolly good time. Newspapers have even been known to furnish a prize winning costume.

Mrs. Cross has about 25 humorous masks on hand, for those who apply early, but at this ball fancy dress may parade without a mystifying mask, if the owner so desires.

A prize will be given for the prettiest and for the most humorous costumes. Mrs. Cross is strongly inclined to give an additional "group prize," if some four couples will arrange their costumes so they can do a "square dance" or quadrille together.

Mrs. Cross has brilliantly colored confetti, obtained from New York and a special brand of incense to go with the gaily colored lights and beautiful decorations.

The Wednesday dances at Crosspatch Annex are always well attended and Mrs. Cross hopes to see some of her many Kingston friends at this gala affair. Crosspatch Annex is not nearly so picturesque as the Community House on the mountain, but the Annex has the advantage of being right in Willow valley, with good roads in every direction.

Crosspatch fruit punch will be served. Mrs. Cross says: "I see the Farm Bureau goes me one better with its 'mysterious flower' to flavor the honeydew punch. More power to it. Perhaps the Farm Bureau will loan me its punch expert for the fancy dress ball next Wednesday. I promise it right of way, should that delightful courtesy come to pass. Meanwhile Crosspatch punch, these days, has a perceptible flavor of sun-kissed black berries and unfermented juice of Astrachan apples.

Talk about putting the faces of living politicians on postage stamps! A sorry sight the most of them would be a few years hence—except those appropriately placed on 20-cent stamps.

Knowing how useless it would be to wait until the sport is dead, the American League proposes to go ahead and spend $100,000 on a "monument to baseball" in East Potomac Park, Washington.

Mrs. Crawford of Greensboro, N. C., although a grandmother of 71 years, is a summer student at Columbia University. "These changing times demand new standpoints," she cheerfully argues, "and the woman of today must keep herself well informed as a part of her duty as a citizen."

Returning from abroad, Miss Ann Martin of Nevada laments that women are less active in politics in America than in Europe and declares that she will not be satisfied until half of our Senators and Representatives are members of her sex. The women voters in general are less eager for such a culmination, if we are to judge by the scant support they gave women candidates in recent elections.

The minority can be generous with promises but when a minority becomes a majority it is not always so generous. There is a difference. The Democrats out of power are ready with promises of what would be done were they in control, but they have nothing to show what they have done when they have been in power. Democrats talk of what their party has done for labor, but the statutes fail to prove what they say.

Notwithstanding Col. Roosevelt's habit of picturesque language and the frequency with which he added members to his Ananias Club, some of his friends are now making a labored effort to prove that "damn" never issued from his lips. In response to these a correspondent of the Boston Herald quotes from page 130 of "The Rough Riders," showing how the Colonel himself related that while urging his men forward in Cuba he indulged in "joking with some and swearing at others."

Those who have been saying that no welfare legislation has been adopted during the past two years are now learning that never before in history of the State have so many bills been signed helpful to women and children and improving conditions under which men and women work. A campaign is educating in more ways than one but it always teaches the people what the Republicans have done and what the Democrats have not done. It proves the difference between performance and promise.

PRUDENT MISS DARCY.

Miss Lily F. Darcy, "Secretary to Joseph Walsh, M. C.," announces in a letter to the New York Times that she has decided not to become a candidate for Congress at this time, although she has complete confidence in her own fitness and talents. "It is generally admitted, even by the most conservative," she writes, "that I am well qualified, that the district (16th of Massachusetts) would not lose any of its prestige by my election," although it is a very great district. "It is now recognized," says Miss Darcy, "as the leading Congressional district of Massachusetts. It is true that I have helped to make it such, and therefore I did not look with awe upon it when my good friends urged me to become Mr. Walsh's successor."

Why, then, does she decline to throw her hat into the ring? If she is supremely well qualified, and has even "helped to make" the district great, why should she hesitate? Partly, it would appear, because she combines with self-confidence a saving prudence. Perhaps, like President Harding, she formerly regarded government as "a very simple thing," and perhaps, like him, she has discovered that it is not as simple as it appears. At any rate she notes: "The affairs of the country were never in a more critical condition. The people must have confidence in their Government, and their representatives should have the courage of their convictions. It is my duty to restore that faith."

In Government, which now seems to be lacking, and the respect for law and its authority." Miss Darcy appears to have absolute confidence in herself, but, on the other hand, she shrewdly recognizes that the job is a big one. Another confessed difficulty is her lack of faith in the support of the women voters. "The sentiment of the people, even of my own sex," she laments, "seems to be that the Sixteenth District of Massachusetts is not yet ready to look with favor upon a woman as their representative in Congress." Prudent Miss Darcy!

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do all frogs croak?
3. Are albino birds healthy?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Please tell me how to distinguish a young hen pigeon from a cock pigeon; also what a two months' old gosling is worth? You probably cannot distinguish the sexes in pigeons until they are full grown and begin to show characteristic behavior. The cock will strut and pose before the hen, and has a slightly coarser look or is a trifle bigger. We cannot give valuation on stock. The gosling would vary in selling value according to its individual characters and also to its breed.

2. Does the cocoa bean grow anywhere but Mexico and Central America? Yes, it has been reported wild near the mouth of the Orinoco, and was grown in the Philippine Islands 300 years ago, carried there by Spanish adventurers. It requires high temperature and humid climate. We suppose you know the "bean" is not a bean in the ordinary sense, but seed of a fruit from a tree, Theobroma cacao. These "beans" were considered so valuable at one time in Mexico that in some sections they passed as money.

3. Do pocket gophers follow any plan in tunneling? Apparently not. The tunneling seems to be an accompaniment to their way of feeding. Instead of stealing garden truck from the surface, the gopher carries his underground passage to a point below some vegetable, at times, and will nibble from underneath without seeming to disturb it. Various root crops like potatoes, etc. are nibbled in the tunneling.

FIRST DUTCH CHURCH CLOCK

Alderman Martin's Resolution That City Keep It Running Tabled After Discussion—Fire Alarm Boxes in School Houses.

The old clock in the steeple of the First Dutch Church popped up at the meeting Tuesday evening of the common council when Alderman Martin introduced a resolution that the finance committee of the council meet with the consistory of the church to discuss the matter of the city keeping the clock repaired and running. Alderman Martin in introducing the resolution said that the clock was used by the general public. For seventy years the clock had been maintained by the church and he did not believe there was any one in the city who would object to its further maintenance being taken care of by the city.

Alderman Behrens, Cashman, Mann and Kullmann, however, raised objections. They believed that it would establish a precedent. If the clock was seventy years old it would probably mean that a new clock would have to be installed.

President Dittus stated that last year the subject had been brought up and a committee had been appointed to meet with the consistory of the church, at which time it was stated that a new clock was needed and it had been estimated the cost would be about $4,000.

Alderman Cashman moved that the Martin resolution be tabled which was carried.

Alderman Beichert introduced a resolution that the fire board install fire alarm boxes in all of the schools, public and parochial, in the city. The resolution was referred to the fire board.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

Topsy's Flock.

Topsy, a half-grown shepherd dog, has, writes a friend of the Companion, a flock of her own. It is an unusual flock too, for every one of the members of it has, not wool, but feathers! The mother of the flock is a Plymouth Rock hen, but Topsy is the shepherd. Whenever the chicks scatter she will run round them and gradually bring them nearer the clucking mother. One day some of them had wandered off, and Topsy, much distressed, was making every effort to round them up, when a passer-by who thought she was going to hurt them struck at her with a folded paper. At once the dog set up an agonized barking, and finally her mistress hurried out to explain. Left alone again, the little dog brought the chicks into close formation and delivered them to the hen in a fairly compact group. Topsy was never trained to do that sort of thing and has never been with older shepherd dogs. Apparently "blood will tell."—Youth's Companion.

Land of Skaters.

Holland is a wonderful place for skating, for, in winter especially, large stretches of land are under water, and these freeze over, as do many of the almost countless canals which thread their way about the country, from place to place, like the railways do in other lands. One of the great ambitions of the Dutch skater is to visit seven towns in one day, and there is one favorite round which, starting from a little town called Leeuwarden, it is possible to travel over the ice in a circle, and after visiting six other towns, find oneself near Leeuwarden again. The distance which must be covered to complete the round is about 100 miles, and the burgomaster of each town, or some one who takes his place, is ready to receive the skaters as they pass through and certify that they have fulfilled their task.—Christian Science Monitor.

Why Horses Sleep Standing.

It is sometimes argued as a reason why horses sleep standing that they have an acute, instinctive fear of mice and insects. However, this argument is not conclusive. When turned out to pasture, horses are apt to spend more time lying down, but even at that they seldom spend more than an hour at night recumbent. That hour is generally taken at midnight. It is not uncommon for people to express wonder at the quiet way many horses will stand still, practically motionless for hours in one position. Their weight is generally on three legs, while the fourth is resting. Few people realize how complete is the relaxation obtained, and to what extent a horse is able to rest in a few hours of such repose. Stable men declare some horses have never slept, except on their feet, in their lives.

Extinguishing Burning Oil.

An easy way to extinguish burning oil has been discovered by various factories, who use fine-meshed wire net for this purpose. As soon as the net covers the burning surface, the iron wires conduct the heat so rapidly that the gas can no longer flame. This is the principle of the Davy safety lamp.

ROODBOY'S HIT FOUND LOST BALL

Thirty Years Before a Ball Had Been Driven Over Fence for Winning Run and Was Not Found Until Discovered by Circuit Court—A Mountain League Tale.

Baseball is filled with queer incidents and experiences. Old timers who attended famous game between the Galluppers and the Busters in the Mountain League were reminded of another famous game, when Captain Ralph Roodboy, of the Galluppers, leaped against the ball in the ninth frame, jamming out a circuit clout and winning the series for his team.

Captain Roodboy's hit was similar to a hit that had been made thirty years ago when his dad was playing ball, and which had won the game that day over a quarter of a century ago. But it got on with the tale.

The Galluppers and the Busters were playing off the mid-season series of games and each had won an equal number of games. The game staged the afternoon in question was a ram-dinger, and a record breaking crowd had turned out to see it.

Inning after inning had slid by with neither team scoring a run. Captain Twin Gormley was tossing them over for his Busters, while Captain Roodboy was on the firing line for his Galluppers. Both were going in top form, and it bid fair to a no-hit and no-run game as darkness was fast drawing on with the last frame still to be played.

The Busters in their half of the sixth could do nothing with the slants of Roodboy and went down in one, two, three order; and then the Galluppers came in for their half of the frame.

"Just one run boys, put it across," urged Captain Roodboy, "you know how to do it."

Captain Gormley, however, was on his mettle, and the first two Galluppers to face him walloped the breezes variously.

Then up stepped Roodboy swinging his trusty willow.

"It's up to you cap," implored the fans, "don't forget that ninth inning rally of yours."

Captain Roodboy had been having an off day with the stick that afternoon, but when a hit was needed he could generally be depended upon to bat it out. The first ball looked good and he swung at it and missed. The second he let go by to hear it called a strike by the umpire.

But the third ball he met on the end of his bat. There was a mighty crack as ball and bat met and the ball sailed on a dead line for the center field fence. Higher and higher sailed the ball and disappeared over the fence into the limbs of an old oak tree that grew close to the fence. The hit won the game for the Galluppers.

Later when the ball was found under the tree it lay alongside another ball. The remarkable feature was the fact that the second ball was the same one that Roodboy's dad had hit over the fence thirty years before and which had evidently lodged in the tree for it had never been found until knocked from its hiding place by the son's circuit clout.

The finding of the second ball gave the old time fans considerable food for discussion that evening as they met in the village store and compared the teams of today with the players of over a century ago.

Pigments in Australia.

An investigation of the geology formations in Queensland has shown that large deposits of valuable oxides and others exist near Rocktown, especially in the vicinity of Cape Flattery.

A sample of Indian red, obtained from that region was analyzed and found to contain almost 50 per cent more iron oxide than the ordinary pigment on third as much alumina and no carbonate of lime. It is stated in the official report that if the latter constituent is required, it can easily be supplied from neighboring coral reefs.—Scientific American.

Girls Who Would Work.

If you have never worked, do a little thinking before you start out to get a job. Says Elizabeth Arnold, employment expert, "What do you want to do? What are your best fitted to do? Can you afford to wait for the ideal opening? If not, or if you do not know what you want to do, remember that no one ever learned to swim standing on the shore. The best thing that offers, any way, is to get on your feet. It is a well done, no matter how simple, monotonous, is good experience. It only work done in a half-hearted way that gets you nowhere."

NEWBURGH MAN CHARGED WITH RECKLESS DRIVING

C. E. Phinney of No. 84 Grand street, Newburgh, was arrested Tuesday evening by Motorcycle Officer Kuehn on a charge of reckless driving. At police headquarters Phinney deposited $25 in cash for his appearance in police court Friday morning. According to the police Phinney alighted from his car at Broadway, near Thomas street, and had a wordy battle with another man, and after shaking up the other man who he grasped by the collar he reentered his car and drove up Broadway at 30 miles an hour.

Kuehn gave chase but Phinney it is claimed refused to stop, but after driving some distance further on he finally did stop when Kuehn again commanded him to halt. Phinney refused to leave his car or drive to the city hall and the police car was called and Phinney removed to it and taken to police headquarters, where after considerable talk he finally gave the cash bail.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

With one out in the ninth, Meusel tied the score with a homer after Bassler dropped his foul fly and then Smith won the game for the Yanks by socking Oldham for another in the tenth, 2 to 1. The Tigers got 12 hits off Shawkey.

Pete Donohue pitched the Phils absolutely silly and the Reds scored a 3 to 0 victory. Meadows, the pitching vis-a-vis of Mr. Donohue, got three of the Phils' six hits.

The Giants started their western invasion with a dull, sickening thud by losing to the Pirates 5 to 2. Neft, who had stopped the Pittsburgh entry twelve successive times, was rushed off the premises in less than 2 innings. Tierney led the carnage with a homer, a triple and two singles.

The Browns preserved their clutch on first place by beating the Senators, 7 to 1, in the second game after Zachary had turned them upside down in the first.

Tilly Walker stepped up with the leaders in the home run derby by smiting Number 26 and 27, during the course of a double header between the Indians and Athletics. They split the verdict two ways, the Indians winning the first, 11 to 4 and dropping the second, 7 to 4.

Those incorrigible Chicago Cubs moved into a tactical position in the National League race by knocking the Braves for a row of pink fence posts in both games of a double bill, five to nothing, and 8 to 3.

The White Sox got twenty-five hits off a trio of Red Sox pitchers and finished in front in a 19 to 11 go-as-you-please.
